

Canadian Rental Housing Coalition launches website

May 25, 2012

The Canadian Rental Housing Coalition has officially launched its national website. Based in B.C., the Canadian Rental Housing Coalition consists of stakeholders from local government, development and real estate industries, non-profit rental housing groups, tenant rights organizations and rental housing managers. “Our Coalition now has its own website that will serve as an source of information and tool to attract support for our efforts to increase the supply of decent and affordable rental housing in Metro Vancouver and all of Canada.

If you are new to our work, be sure to read our Charter. We are seeking endorsements from local governments, advocacy groups, business associations and non-profit organizations to strengthen our call for government action.

Our website also includes a comprehensive resources section with relevant studies, reports, articles and statistics about rental housing, as well as a media page with news articles about our Coalition and other news.”
