

State of the Inner City 2010

We are in it for the long haul | CCPA Manitoba

Three priorities for this year's report emerged in the early months of 2010. One priority, and one that has been a constant theme each year, was housing. Our partners from the south end of the inner city are concerned about rising rental rates and the shrinking supply of affordable rental units as a result of rent-to-condominium conversion. They wanted to explore this issue further in the 2010 State of the Inner-City Report. While the conversion of rental housing to condominiums, and the displacement of renters due to rising rents, has been less of an issue in the North End, it has had an impact as displaced renters move further north where the supply is not keeping up to demand. Fully understanding the housing challenges in these neighbourhoods allows community organizations to better respond and advocate on behalf of residents.
